Update 5 — Settling Laundry Bills Correctly

v1.1.0 · Edition 1.0 · 15 August 2026

Understanding the Update · 5 — Laundry: Settling Bills Correctly

For the management and staff of MRK Hotels — 5 September 2026

1. What was the problem?

Laundry charges could be added to a guest's room account without checking that the guest was actually staying in that room. There was also no clear, deliberate "settle the bill" step in the screen.

What that meant for you:

- A laundry bill could end up on a vacant room or a guest who had already checked out — producing charges the hotel could never collect.
- Staff had no simple, guided way to finish an order — it was just one of many buttons.
- Orders taken at the desk for more than one item could not always be settled to the room properly.

2. What did we change?

- Settling is now an explicit step. Unpaid orders show a Settle button. Clicking it opens a simple choice:
- Mark as paid — the guest paid in cash/card etc.; the order is closed.
- Post to room — the charge goes onto the guest's room account.
- Room posting is now protected. The system will only post a charge to a room where the guest is actually having an active stay. If the room is vacant or the guest has checked out, the system refuses and tells your staff why.
- Walk-in orders are covered. If you took the order without linking a reservation (just a room number), the system works out the correct in-house stay at settlement time and posts the charge there.

3. Why it matters to you

- No phantom charges. You will never bill a vacant or checked-out room by accident.
- Cleaner guest accounts. Every room charge corresponds to a real stay.
- Clear staff workflow. Posting to a room is now a deliberate, reviewed action — not an accidental click.

4. What you will see in the app

- On the Laundry page, each unpaid order has a Settle button.
- The settlement screen shows the order number, the guest and the total charge before you confirm.
- If you choose "Post to room" for a room with no active guest, a clear message explains the charge was not posted.
